

Stay Organized and Protected: Your Food Business Needs a Compliance Folder

Running a food or drink business means you'll need to share information with various people - health inspectors, stores, customers, etc. Here's where a due diligence folder comes in. It's like a virtual filing cabinet where you keep all the details you might need to share. If there's ever a problem, a due diligence folder shows you took all reasonable steps to prevent it. It's like evidence you did everything right. No more scrambling to find information. Everything's organized and easy to access with your due diligence folder. We can help you set up your due diligence folder and make sure your information is clear and complete. Need more assistance? Contact Food research lab today! Visit us on <https://www.foodresearchlab.com/contact-us/> things to take note to make your process easy

INFORMATION REGARDING THE QUALITY AND SAFETY OF YOUR PRODUCT	TICK
Nutritional composition and contents of your product (mention all the preservatives and additives used in your product)	<input type="checkbox"/>
Labelling details (ensure whether it meet all the necessary requirements)	<input type="checkbox"/>
Particulars related to your advertising strategies	<input type="checkbox"/>
Ensure complete ingredient traceability (This focuses on the ability to identify the specific ingredients used in each batch of your product.)	<input type="checkbox"/>
Process of recall	<input type="checkbox"/>
Protocols that you followed regarding the safety and hygiene (including freezer temperature details)	<input type="checkbox"/>

Protocols that you followed regarding the safety and hygiene (including freezer temperature details)	<input type="checkbox"/>
Information related to your staff's hygiene, on boarding program and equipment	<input type="checkbox"/>
Local authority registration, company formation, insurance documents and other contracts Service agreements	<input type="checkbox"/>
Local authority registration, company formation, insurance documents and other contracts Service agreements	<input type="checkbox"/>
Details regarding your trading license	<input type="checkbox"/>
Adherence details regarding import or export of your product	<input type="checkbox"/>

For additional details or to go over your needs in greater detail, contact us at +44 161 394 1144 or visit www.foodresearchlab.com